10:15AM TOUR, 11:30AM LUNCHEON

ESCAPE THE CITY: INTER CLUB TRIP TO THE CULINARY INSTITUTE OF AMERICA

Members are invited for a private tour and luncheon at the world's premier culinary college, the CIA. The Cornell Club's recently retired Executive Chef Michael Rizzo and The Penn Club's Executive Chef Charles Kehrl, both CIA graduates, will join Cornell, Yale, and Penn Club Members on a tour of the 170 acre campus and lunch at Caterina De' Medici Restaurant. Some of the world's most famous Chefs were educated at the CIA, including: Anthony Bourdain, David Burke, Todd English, Cat Cora, Michael Chiarello, and Grant Achatz. As a true not-for-profit college, the CIA mission is to provide the world's best professional culinary education; students choose the CIA for gold-standard education programs, expert faculty, world class facilities, and outstanding career opportunities.

Pop-Up Dinner Series

Our Pop-Up Dinners keep getting better and better! This past month's Showa Dinner was incredible. From our servers to chefs and everyone behind the scenes that made the evening so special—thank you! We would also like to thank our guests Jordan Beaman, of Heartbrand Beef and Lee Selig and Karen Mihalko, from Main Street Meats. It was our pleasure to welcome them to The Club and learn more about the Akaushi Beef that was featured on the menu.

The Return of BBQ Fridays!

Our favorite summer tradition is back in the Big Red Tap & Grill!

Starting Friday, June 14th and going through the summer - come join us at our BBQ!

We are excited to announce our next Pop-Up Dinner...

THE JAPAN-U.S. RELATIONSHIP AND ITS ROLE IN THE WORLD WITH AMBASSADOR MIKIO MORI

The world is at a historic turning point. We witness many urgent issues that must be addressed by Japan and the United States. Cooperation between the two countries has never been so necessary, and in fact, there is a close partnership between the leaders and governments of these two nations to maintain the international order, which includes democracy, freedom, and the rule of law.

The strong Japan-U.S. relationship has taken a unique path in history. Guest speaker, Ambassador Mikio Mori, will provide perspective on how it has changed/grown/deepened since his first appointment as consul in New York in the 1980s, at the height of Japan-bashing and Japan-U.S. trade frictions, to his third and present assignment to New York as Consul General.

How have Japan-U.S. relations steadily deepened, and how can they be further developed? What steps can we take to advance these multifaceted ties through academic, business, and cultural exchanges? As a major U.S. ally, how do we envision the growth of Japan's leadership role in the international community? This lecture will explore these matters through Ambassador Mori's personal and professional lens.
